

Nazi Chiefs Make Final Appeals As Trials End

By G. K. HODENFIELD

Nuernberg, Aug. 31 (AP)—Adolf Hitler's top henchmen, led by hollow-eyed Hermann Goering, made their last pleas today before the international military tribunal which has heard almost incredible testimony of Nazi cruelty and terror for the past nine months.

While the 20 co-defendants sat in the prisoner's box, Goering opened the string of last-minute speeches by shouting his innocence over and over again in an impassioned 10-minute plea.

Gaunt, white-faced Rudolf Hess followed Goering. Unleashing a storm of abuse, Hitler's one-time deputy attacked the entire procedure.

Courtroom Packed "I predicted that witnesses would appear who under oath would make untrue statements and the court would receive affidavits of untrue statements; that the defendants would hear astonishing facts," he shouted.

The old courtroom, remodeled for the trials which started November 20, 1945, was packed to the doors for the wind-up of the drawn-out case against the one-time Nazi leaders, charged with high crimes against humanity. The court was expected to recess tonight to write its verdict, expected in about two weeks.

The once-arrogant Goering kept his sharp, peering eyes averted from the four-power Allied court, as he read his last words of justification for his conduct.

Final Outburst

In a high, strong voice the former Reichsmarshal made an appeal "for the German people" regardless of what fate lay in store for himself.

He sought to ameliorate any guilt for himself, however, by declaring that the prosecution had failed to show by documentary proof where and how he could have known everything that happened under Hitler, even though he admittedly was the number two Nazi.

In a final outburst, Goering asserted he was nevertheless "standing back of everything I have done." "The only motive which guided me was my ardent love for my people. I call on the Almighty and the German people as my witness."

To Consume Day

Joachim Von Ribbentrop, who followed Hess, defended his conduct as foreign minister with the declaration that Germany sought much the same things as the United States, Britain and Russia — "the only difference is that they think in terms of continents, we in terms of corridors."

"In 1939, I met Stalin in Moscow and he didn't seek a peaceful settlement," he said. "The conduct of the man in 1939 was not considered a crime against peace."

It took an entire hour to hear Goering, Hess and Von Ribbentrop, indicating that the speeches of the rest of the defendants would consume most of the day.

Keitel Blames Hitler

The gist of the other defendants' pleas:

Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel: "It is not my intention to minimize that which took place." He put the blame on Hitler as the real instigator of the orders . . . when an order was given by the Fuehrer, he said, "I acted according to my duty as I saw it."

Ernst Kaltenbrunner: Claimed he learned of concentration camp crimes "only to the smallest extent." He contended he was kept in the dark about the anti-Jewish program, but commented, "the anti-Semitism of Hitler as we know it was barbarism."

Alfred Rosenberg: "Adolf Hitler drew more and more into himself people who were not my comrades but my enemies. Ours was a struggle for a noble idea."

Appearance Has Changed

Hans Frank: Bitterly accused Hitler as "the main defendant" and berated his cowardice for committing suicide "when his people needed him." Declared that Germany lost the war "because God has spoken his judgment over Hitler."

The once mighty German leaders, for all of whom the death penalty has been demanded by the prosecution, present a far different appearance than they did when they first took their seats in the dock on Nov. 20, 1945.

Nine Months of Listening to the evidence of the crimes against humanity with which they are charged and to the efforts of their defense lawyers to offset their records, has changed them physically and mentally.

LICENSES TO HUNT FREE TO SERVICEMEN

Any Pennsylvania resident now in the armed forces of the United States can still obtain a free hunting license by applying to any county treasurer, according to copies of the state hunting regulations for the 1946-1947 season, just received at the office of Adams County Treasurer Donald C. Stallsmith in the court house. Servicemen and women who are normally residents of other states, if officially stationed in Pennsylvania for 30 days or more before making application, may also obtain free licenses.

The free licenses, however, will not be available to servicemen and women after World War II is officially terminated by federal action, the regulations warn.

Warning on Safety

The regulations are prefaced with this warning: "Careful shooting prevents accidents," and the pamphlets also list as "important" that "no loaded gun is allowed in automobiles. Do not place, possess or carry a loaded rifle or loaded shotgun in or on an automobile, or other conveyance, upon or along any highway open to public use. Shells must also be removed from magazine. Penalties, $10 and $25."

The game laws provide that every hunting accident must be reported. The state also wants "chiselers" caught, and declares: "The vast majority of Pennsylvania's hunters are real sportsmen, and observe the law. You can help yourself and promote better hunting by reporting violations promptly to any game protector or to the nearest field division office."

Hunting license fees are $2 for resident, $15 for non-resident. Minimum age is 12 years. Persons under 16 years must present written request signed by parent or legal guardian. The dog training season is August 20 to March 31, Sundays included. Carrying shotgun or rifle is prohibited.

American Way Of Life Is Seriously Threatened

By LEIGHTON C. TAYLOR

The direction in which this country is headed arouses grave apprehension as to our ultimate destination.

With such proposed legislation before congress as the Murray-Wagner-Dingell bill, for example, calling for socialized medicine, and the ever-increasing propaganda for government ownership of public utilities and the undermining of free enterprise, we cannot help but wonder whether our train of thought is on the right track.

The United States is the greatest industrial nation in the world because of the American concept of free enterprise. Under free enterprise initiative and ingenuity have flourished, the inventive mind has been free to fully express itself, and organization and risk-taking have been encouraged, all of which has resulted in our enjoying the highest standard of living on earth. News Collected At Random

George T. Raffensperger, teller and assistant trust officer at The Gettysburg National bank, recently was subjected to "spine-tingling" test as to his honesty as a banker.

Some time ago a four-year-old boy opened a savings account at the bank. George handled the account and proudly presented the youngster with a pass book. The equally proud and happy youngster departed and for days boasted of his "bank account."

Several days ago the youngster, accompanying his mother to the bank where the latter transacted business, spied Mr. Raffensperger. The boy had a holster suspended from his belt, a toy pistol protruding from the leather pouch.

Walking over to Mr. Raffensperger the youngster "drew his gun," leveled it at George and demanded: "Do you still got my money?" Recognizing his new customer and sensing the situation, George replied, with arms upraised: "Yes sir, my good man. We've got your money." Then pointing to the large vault in the rear of the bank, added: "We keep it in that big vault."

"Okay," said the youngster and happily rejoined his mother.

Secretary of Revenue David Harris has issued a timely warning to motorists and pedestrians to use every care and caution during the long Labor Day week-end. He said:

"Only man, himself, can make a casualty list impossible. Only by the resolve carried into firm action to drive safely and walk safely can there be a clean slate of happiness. Last year there were seven fatalities in the three-day Labor Day holiday (Please Turn to Page 2)

College Graduates 28 Students Today

Gettysburg college's summer school closed today with approximately 450 students adding one semester's work through the accelerated curriculum. Twenty-eight of this number were graduates, receiving their diplomas from Dr. Henry A. Hanson, president of the college, at 10:30 o'clock in his office.

NEW LAW WITH TEETH USED TO GET MORE TAXES

Taking advantage of the provisions of the local tax collection law which went into effect the first of this year, tax collectors throughout Adams county are using the "teeth" in the new act to gather taxes from several thousand countians who have failed or refused to pay taxes under the old law.

Chief advantage of the new act, the collectors say, is that it provides a legal means to compel payment of the per capita taxes of taxables who do not own real estate.

Attachment of wages, sales of personal property and suits in the county courts are the measures the tax collectors are prepared to take to get the delinquent taxes.

Getting Results Already

J. Herbert Weikert, Gettysburg collector, said that the new law will make it possible to collect per capita taxes from 1,000 to 1,100 local residents who do not own property and who have been able to evade tax payments in recent years. The new law is expected to boost local tax collections by several thousand dollars. A much larger sum is involved throughout the county.

Mr. Weikert has mailed "reminders" to the delinquent taxpayers setting a deadline in October after which the steps provided by the new law are to be taken.

The letters went out a few days ago and results already are being obtained, the local collector stated.

One feature of the new law which collectors hope will hasten payments without the use of the final drastic steps is that which permits the collector to collect costs for the extra procedures. There will be costs added for personal service of tax notices, for the issuance of wage attachment notices, mileage for serving notices upon the taxpayers and additional costs for levying upon goods for a tax sale.

While most of the taxpayers affected under the new measures will be those who do not own real estate—real estate owners' taxes generally can be secured by the levying of liens on their properties—there is a provision in the new law for the attachment of rents to cover taxes.

Employers are allowed a book-keeping charge up to two per cent of the tax collected. The new law gives the tax collector authority to collect tax sums plus a 10 per cent penalty from the employer in event he refuses to deduct the taxes from delinquent employees' wages after being served with a proper notice.

PAROLEE HELD ON 3 COUNTS

Joseph W. Condon, Emmitsburg, who was placed on parole April 18 by the Adams county court on a charge of larceny of a motor vehicle after serving part of a six-month sentence was back in jail again today, this time in Franklin county.

Condon was said by state police of the Chambersburg sub-station to have stolen a cash register, $6, and two automobiles, one in Emmitsburg and one in Baltimore.

According to the Chambersburg officers Condon started out Wednesday morning by stealing a car owned by Charles Basallina, Baltimore, and starting out to visit members of his family who live at Fairfield R. 1.

Thursday afternoon Condon was said by police to have gone to the Keystone garage at Blue Ridge Summit where he picked up the cash register and placed it in the rumble seat of his car.

Cash Register Found Condon gave the proprietor a $5 bill for oil and repairs and said he was going up the road to pick up a "buddy" and would get the change on his way back. When the attendant walked into the garage he found the cash register gone. Condon was also gone.

Seek Youth Who Fled White Hill

Motorists entering York Springs and Dillsburg were stopped at the intersections in those two boroughs from 11:30 a. m. to 5 o'clock Friday afternoon as state police searched for a 17-year-old Reynoldsville youth who escaped Friday morning from White Hill school near Camp Hill.

Officers from the Gettysburg sub-station were on duty at the two towns during the entire afternoon stopping cars and examining them for the escaped youth. After 5 o'clock the regular patrols of the police were resumed. The five-foot eight, 150-pound youth who has black hair, and gray eyes and who is light complexioned was last seen wearing a brown shirt and brown trousers.

On Wednesday, a convoy of 28 army vehicles passed through the town enroute from the south to Carlisle Barracks, police reported.

Driver Strikes At Bee; Car Crashes

Attempts by Charles W. Crawford, 65, Abbottstown R. 1, to brush a bee off his coat while driving led to an accident Friday evening at 5:45 o'clock just west of the Abbottstown square and will lead, state police say, to a charge of reckless driving against Crawford before Justice of the Peace George W. Baker, Abbottstown.

Crawford, according to police, was driving east in Abbottstown when a bee lighted on his coat. He looked at the bee and attempted to brush it off before it would sting him. While he was thus engaged, police say, his car struck a parked car on the right side of the road owned by Ernest E. Hoke, Abbottstown. Total damage was $100.

Crawford was treated by Dr. David I. Thompson, Abbottstown, for a broken nose and chest bruises. Earl Baker, 28, Abbottstown R. 1, who was riding in the Crawford car, was knocked unconscious by the crash and was treated by Doctor Thompson for a concussion and bruises.

RECORD CROWDS EXPECTED OVER THIS WEEK-END

(By The Associated Press)

The big rush was on today as thousands of Pennsylvanians got under way for their final holiday of the summer season.

In cities and towns throughout the Keystone state public transportation facilities creaked and groaned under what some officials predicted would be an all-time record volume of travel for the Labor Day week-end, or any holiday. State and local police facilities were mobilized to control the heaviest volume of highway traffic in years and safety authorities called for all possible precautions to keep accidents to a minimum.

The weatherman was not overly optimistic. For most of the state the forecast was for fair today, increasing cloudiness and cooler Sunday with a possibility of showers in the northern section.

Resorts Popular

Many communities planned celebrations for the stay-at-homes, with sports featured at a number of them. A record baseball turnout was possible in Philadelphia Monday where the Phillies meet the Brooklyn Dodgers in a Labor Day doubleheader that may have important bearing on the National league pennant chase.

Resort areas such as the Pocono mountains in eastern Pennsylvania, Conneaut Lake in the northwest and the South mountains in the central state area reported hotel reservations unusually heavy.

A tremendous volume of traffic flowed toward New Jersey shore resorts by highway rail and bus. The Pennsylvania railroad reported it had scheduled 56 extra trains from Philadelphia to accommodate the crowds. Bus lines pressed all available vehicles into service and four almost-solid lines of autos rolled across the Philadelphia-Camden bridge.

A Department of Revenue spokesman in Harrisburg warned that traffic regulations would be strictly enforced by the entire state police force.

NLRB DEFINES WHAT EMPLOYER CAN ENUNCIATE

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Aug. 31 (AP)—How freely can an employer speak to his employees about a union they are thinking of joining?

This story will attempt to answer that question. It puzzles many employers because of two things:

1. Freedom of speech is guaranteed by the constitution.
2. The National Labor Relations Act, passed in 1935, says an employer shall not engage in unfair labor practices against his employees.

(An example of what that act calls an unfair labor practice: If an employer tries to prevent his employees from joining a union.)

This week the national labor relations board issued a ruling in the case of a New York company.

Must Be "Temperate"

The union had complained to the board, which enforces the labor relations act, that the company had tried to keep its employees from joining the union.

The ruling said in part: "Standing alone and in the absence of other evidence, the presentation of an argument (by an employer), temperate in form and containing no intimation of reprisal may not support an inference of coercion.

"But the situation is quite different where it is clear that the employer's purpose is not merely to express his views, but rather engage in an organized, intensive and aggressive campaign forming part of a general course of conduct aimed at achieving objectives forbidden by the act."

(The board, in the New York case, found that company officials one hour before the employees voted on joining a union, had made "anti-union" speeches and had done, previously, other things to discourage joining.)

Must Not Threaten

But, translated into everyday speech, what does the language of the board mean? At the labor relations board's offices, this was the explanation given:

A boss is free to tell his employees what he thinks of a union or even denounce it if in denouncing it:

1. He doesn't threaten them if they join, or try to coerce them into not joining.
2. His denunciation is not part of a general effort to prevent the employees from joining. Example: If, before or after his talk, he fired men interested in the union or demoted them.

PUSH PROBE OF KKK IN PENNA.

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 31 (AP)—Ku Klux Klan activities in Philadelphia were under police scrutiny today as Pennsylvania authorities pushed a state-wide probe of the hooded order.

Newspaper reports said recent Klan organization in Pennsylvania had been directed from Philadelphia, where Mayor Bernard Samuel ordered the separate probe.

Meanwhile Pennsylvania authorities awaited the Federal Bureau of Investigation's reply to a telegraphed invitation from Governor Edward Martin that the FBI include the Keystone state in the investigation it undertook some time ago. A spokesman for the governor's office said no reply had been received prior to Martin's departure yesterday.

State police were operating in close-mouthed secrecy, principally in the Chambersburg area where newspaper advertisements first brought Klan activities to the governor's attention. A state police official said plainclothesmen had been assigned to the case.

Mayor Samuel did not announce his reasons for ordering the Philadelphia investigation but Philadelphia newspapers reported that four units of the organization were in operation there and were sponsoring membership efforts in other communities.

period in Pennsylvania. Traffic then could in no way be compared with the great volume anticipated this coming week-end. During the peak traffic year of 1941 the Labor Day week-end toll was 29 lives. What will be the toll this year? Only you, the driver and walker, can answer that.

"Your State Government will do all in its power to safeguard our citizens. The State Police will vigorously enforce the motor laws and offenders will be severely punished but with all that the answer is still in your hands, Mr. Citizen. Drive safely and walk with care. Take no chances whatsoever. Be sure that your car has been checked for mechanical defects. Observe the law, the rules of the road, but above all else consider the rights of the other fellow. Protect him and you'll be safe."

"And don't let this become just a Labor Day resolution. Make it an all time resolve to save others and yourself by playing safe every minute of the day and night."

ELKS WIN OVER MARKETEERS 4-2 TO TIE SERIES

The Elks softball team came from behind Friday evening and scored a pair of runs in the top half of the seventh inning to defeat the Marketeters 4-2 to knot their best-out-of-three semi-final series in the community league playoffs.

Next Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock the teams will clash in the deciding game of the series. The winner will then open a three-game series Wednesday with the Varsity barbers for the league title.

The Marketeters took the lead in the second inning when they shoved over both of their runs. A walk to Russell, single by Cline and double by Fair sent the marketmen out in front 2-0.

In the top half of the third inning the Elks tabbed a run. With one out, Drach's single sent him home. Singles by Kitzmiller and F. Kuhn and a wild throw at first base produced the tying runs for the Elks in the fourth.

Neither team could score in the following two innings but in the last game, which was played in semi-darkness, walks to Phil and Knox and a single by Bream sewed up the contest for the lodgemen.

Despite the unreasonably cool weather another large crowd attended.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
New York, Aug. 31 (AP)—If baseball is serious about "benefits" for players, the international league's publicist-historian, Harry Simmons, offers a plan which should easily take care of that pension fund. . . . Instead of just a series of exhibitions, Harry proposes a "cup play-off" involving all 16 big league teams. . . . The first round, matching the natural rivals such as Giants and Yankees, would be played in May. The survivors, divided by sections, would play the second round in June. They'd skip July because of the all star game, play the semi-finals in August and an East-West final in September. "It might be interesting as a world series preview," Harry points out, "or because the pennant contenders had been knocked out early." . . . He'd like to get president, or possibly the commissioner, to donate the trophy. . . . Then, as a final touch, Harry suggests the boredom of the all-star game could be removed by taking $2,000 from the receipts of each game to make a $30,000 pot for the winning all-star team. "For $1,000 apiece and $5,000 for the manager they'd really be in there scrapping," he claims.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR
Kud Rennie, New York Herald-Tribune: "Setting out to frustrate the baseball guild, the baseball club owners may do better than Bob Murphy in convincing the players that the guild is what they need."

SHORTS AND SHELLS
Ward Cuff's "kid" brother, Harold, a marine veteran, is a freshman candidate for fullback on the Marquette U. football team but coach Frank Murray hardly expects him to be "another Ward." . . . It might be added that it took Steve Owen to find how good Ward was. . . . Lew Raymond, the New Orleans fight promoter, is trying to match his newest drawing card, Jock Leslie of Flint, Mich., with Willie Pep for an October bout. . . . Joe Dimaggio, New York U. tackle candidate, can hit too but not the way the other Joe does it. New York's Dimaggio hit the beach and hit five campaigns with the seventh army. . . .

BOSTON RED SOX CAN SET RECORD FOR GAMES WON

By JOE REICHLER
(AP Sports Writer)
If the pennant-bound Boston Red Sox continue at their present pace, they should wind up the season with the most games ever won by a Boston team.

Having already bagged 90 of 130 games for a .692 percentage, the American league pace-setters can top their 1912 high of 105 victories provided they win 16 of their remaining 24 games—a 667 pace.

In only one other year—1915—did any Boston aggregation reach the century figure in games won. That year the Sox won 101 games and the American league pennant.

Sox Beat A's Twice
In the only scheduled American league games yesterday, the Sox pasted the visiting Philadelphia Athletics twice 6-0 and 6-2 for their 14th and 15th victories in 18 meetings with the cellarites.

The Philadelphia Phils increased their sixth place margin over the Giants to two games by defeating the New Yorkers 4-3 under the Polo Grounds lights in the only National league game.

Homers accounted for three of the Phillys runs with Jim Tabor, Johnny Wyrostek and Del Ennis belting the four baggers.

Inter State League

(By The Associated Press)
Allentown's drive for a playoff berth in the interstate league had suffered a severe setback today, with the Cardinals buried in sixth place, a half game behind York and trailing fourth-place Sunbury by one and one-half games.

Tail-end Lancaster jolted the Cardinals last night, sweeping both ends of a doubleheader, 8-5 and 8-2. York triumphed 8-0 over Sunbury before 3,814 fans, the largest baseball crowd of the season in Sunbury.

Wilmington padded its league lead with a clean sweep of a twin bill at Harrisburg, winning 5-3 and 10-6. Trenton and Hagerstown broke even, the Giants winning the opener 11 to 1 and Hagerstown the nightcap 4-1.

Today's schedule: Trenton at York; Lancaster at Harrisburg (2); Wilmington at Sunbury; Hagerstown at Allentown.

All-American Series Will Start Tuesday

Harrisburg, Aug. 31 (AP)—Entries for the All-American baseball tournament, opening here Tuesday, September 3, have been limited to 16 state and city champions, Glenn L. Martin, Baltimore, sponsor of the annual event, announced today.

Teams competing for this year's crown will come from as far south as Blount, Ala., and as far north as Waterbury, Conn.

New York city will have representatives from the Bronx, Queens, and Manhattan, while other New York state teams are entered from Elmira, Brooklyn and Nassau, in Westchester county.

Entries also have been received from Zanesville, Ohio, Baltimore, Washington, D. C., and Harrisburg, while elimination tournaments are still under way to select entries from New Jersey, Maryland, and the Susquehanna league in southern Pennsylvania.

The Martin Bombers, of Baltimore, although beaten in the Baltimore city elimination tournament, will be the sixteenth entry as defending champions. The tournament will be played on the same plan used last year, with two losses eliminating a team from the competition.

Champ Amateurs To Meet Pro Players

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 31 (AP)—Two girls who between them control the women's amateur championship of the Pacific coast were up against the nation's two best women professionals in today's semi-finals of the $19,700 Women's National Open Golf tournament.

Betty Jean Rucker of Spokane, two-time Pacific northwest titleholder—a territory that takes in British Columbia, Washington and Oregon—was to play Pudgy Patty Berg of Minneapolis, top-ranking woman pro, in an upper bracket 36-hole feature.

Dot Kietly, California State Women's Amateur champion, was to tee off against Betty Jameson, only woman to win the Women's National Amateur title two years in a row before she turned pro. Dot is from Long Beach, Calif., Betty from San Antonio, Texas.

Miss Rucker supplied the surprise of the day in yesterday's quarter-final when she easily eliminated little Betty Hicks, professional from Long Beach, Calif., 5 and 4.

BLUE JAYS WIN
Charleston, S. C., Aug. 31 (AP)—The Blue Jays of Jesuit high school, New Orleans, today held the American Legion junior baseball championship. The Jesuits defeated favored Trenton (N. J.) last night, 3 to 1, in the final game of the little World Series. It was New Orleans' second consecutive win over Trenton and their fourth consecutive win in the tournament.

MAJOR OPTIMISTIC
Pittsburgh, Aug. 31 (AP)—Negotiations in a contract dispute of the Duquesne Light company and an independent union of the firm's employees resumed today with Mayor David L. Lawrence sounding an optimistic note on which the union president failed to harmonize.

Frankie Parker Is After Third Title
New York, Aug. 31 (AP)—Tennis purists may argue until they're black in the face that Frankie Parker doesn't rank among the really good players of the game, and insist that his forehead drive is one of the strangest strokes ever devised. Yet the fact remains that the serious young man who came out of the Midwest many a year ago will be gunning for his third straight National title out at Forest Hills today.

The old master, Bill Tilden, was the last player to capture more than two straight titles. His record string was six in a row.

Where Parker plainly faces a stern task against such rivals as Jack Kramer, Gardnar Mulloy, Don McNeill, Yvon Petra and others in the men's division, Pauline Betz of Los Angeles virtually has been conceded the women's title before a ball is hit.

The only girls given a chance of beating Pauline are her fellow Californians, Louise Brough and Margaret Osborne, and she has proved that, over the long haul, she can trim either of them most of the time.

DRIVERS RETURN
Pittsburgh, Aug. 31 (AP)—Drivers of the Bamford Brothers Bus company, serving the Whitaker district, returned to work last night after their protest against turn assignments had delayed for one day resumption of work slated after a 46-day-long strike was settled.

HOGAN SHOOTS
66 ON OPENER
Los Angeles, Aug. 31 (AP)—What to do with a guy who shoots 66 the first time he plays the course was the puzzle vexing the nation's top-flight golfers today as they teed off in pursuit of Blazin' Ben Hogan in the second round of the $15,000 72-hole Golden State tournament at California country club.

Without benefit of a warm-up drill on the hilly layout, Hogan calmly stepped out and bettered par by five strokes in the first round yesterday as a slight breeze and perhaps "Hogan nerves" hampered many of the other 140-odd starters.

Only Herman Keiser, Akron, O. winner of the Bobby Jones Masters' trophy, stayed near the pace. Keiser, like Hogan, had five birdies, but slipped over par on one hole to card a 67.

Hogan, the PGA champion from Hershey, Pa., took two strokes off par for the first nine with a 34, then came back with a three-under 32. Most of the first day crowd of 3,000 thought they could see Benny adding the $2,500 first prize check to his 1946 winnings of $33,377, well ahead of the rest of the pro field.

Other spectacular, but more erratic stroking was supplied by Toney Penna of Cincinnati, and Ellsworth Vines, the ex-tennis player, now out of Chicago.

Coploy Again Is Legion Champion
Philadelphia, Aug. 31 (AP)—Coploy reigned again today as Pennsylvania American Legion junior baseball champ, and toasted the prowess of husky Curt Simmons.

The big righthander pitched and batted the Northampton county team to its second successive title yesterday, starting all the way as Coploy drubbed Alliquippa's western champions 15-0 in the afternoon game and 3-2 in the night contest at Shibe park as the eastern finalists swept two straight games of the best-of-three series.

Simmons pitched the first game, setting Alliquippa down without a safe hit in the first five frame and only one single while striking out 18 batters. Meanwhile his mates hammered Rudy Kusanovich, Alliquippa's mound star, for six runs in the first frame and coasted to victory, scoring almost at will in the closing innings.

In the night game Simmons moved from the mound to first base and in the ninth hammered a triple to deep right, romping home with the tying tally as George Williams doubled to left. Williams scored the winning marker a moment later as Paul Heffner engineered a successful squeeze play.

SOMETHING TO LIVE FOR

Happy interests not only keep us well alive, but they help enormously to add to our years. When you hear someone say that he has nothing to live for, that no one really cares for him, then you may know that he is grooming himself for the grave. At such a time, some happy suggestion may be the means of giving to that one a new birth.

Every one of us may become an ambassador of good will in the world, self-appointed! By doing someone else a good turn, we elevate ourselves. We add to our incentive, and we feel that we have something to live for. We invest in ourselves, and give out the interest to others. That makes us a going concern!

Every useful thing that we do, everything that we extract from experience, from books, from people, and from the thoughts that are stimulated by others, increases our worth, and gives to us further evidence that we have something to live for. Whenever we get to the point when we pity ourselves, or think ourselves neglected, we court disease. Busy folks, doing work that they like, need no other medicine to keep them alive and happy. Someone else there always is, who has more troubles than we do, and who probably faces them with great grace and courage. We need to be a little ashamed of ourselves at times.

When in college I went often to read to a blind man, and I noted that afterwards I always saw better with my seeing eyes! I marvel at the amount of literary work turned out by Lafcadio Hearn, who had only the half of one eye with which to read and write. But not until he gained the position of teaching Japanese students the beauty of English literature, did he actually find himself and glory in the opportunity to serve. Then life meant something to him, for he had something to live for.

A happy hobby is a great lifter, for it is contagious. Your enthusiasm spreads and radiates. And when that hobby is people, your entire world enlarges!

LAKE HURON SUNSET

Sunset on Lake Huron is a glorious sight to see.

The waves seem robed in purple; goldleafs on every tree. The day slips out so softly, as on tiptoe it must tread, Lest it wake some baby angel that is sleeping overhead.

We stand in adoration on a tall and rocky ledge As the sun slips down in splendor at the water's distant edge. And if ever we have doubted that the Lord is good to men, The majesty of evening brings us back to Him again.

I have said it to the children and I've said it to my friends: "Tis too bad the room is darkened when man's earthly journey ends. Could I have but one wish granted when I reach my final day— With a touch of sunset glory I should like to slip away."

Riding with Russell

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.
BY FREDERICK C. RUSSELL
Member S. & E.

Had you heard of the absent-minded motorist who read the Monday morning paper to see if he was in an automobile accident on Sunday?

Meet Borderline Pinging
Whether octane rating is high or low every car owner ought to know what is meant by borderline detonation. But first let's wise up on detonation itself. It is knocking or pinging, but always remember that it occurs after spark has set off the gas charge and is thus different from preignition which is firing of the gas before the plugs go into action. Detonation is caused by too high engine temperature, too much carbon, an excessively lean gas mixture, low octane fuel, too high compression or excessive spark advance. Borderline detonation is that mild form of pinging which most mechanics favor as a means of letting the driver know the timing is sufficiently advanced for highest efficiency. The trick is to keep just below this borderline pinging.

The Race In Retrospect
Looking back over this year's Memorial Day Race at Indianapolis it is interesting to record that the car which winner George Robson piloted carried a six-cylinder engine and was built in 1937. Second place was won by Jimmy Jackson in a four-cylinder front-drive job. The oddest car in the contest was a Fageol which featured front and rear four-cylinder engines, each with a separate drive. That ought to answer the question whether the engine should be ahead or behind. One job in the classic race had two-way radio communication with men in its pit. An usual of cars had no motor fan, the air draft being quite enough to cool them.

Three To Remember
Car owners who are at their wit's end to find the cause of a persistent squeak should always consider the effect of atmospheric conditions, or the weather. Wait for a change in such conditions, and the chances are that noises will disappear. It may be a lead.

In damp weather always make the day's first application of the brakes while the car is in gear with the motor pulling. This will be effective insurance against having the brakes grab.

Tires are always overtaxed when the car is overloaded. Remember this if you have a weak tire or two. You can usually compensate by driving slower. That at least saves the tires further weakening through excess pressure and heating of the carcasses.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:
"When motorists consult me about stick valves I may or may not decide to use gum solvents in an effort to free up the sluggish stems but I always check valve spring tension. It is surprising how much of this sort of trouble is due entirely to failure of the springs to close valves tightly and promptly."

"If there is delay naturally gases can blow down around the valve stem guides, forming gum there. Soon this gum will delay valve action or check it altogether. And when an exhaust valve can't close you will find its stem is sure to warp. After that bit of trouble no amount of solvent will provide a remedy, nor will merely replacing the weak spring solve it."

Are These The Ten?
"Somewhere in the past I came across ten words which were offered as a means of helping the thoughtful driver avoid accidents," writes N. M. L. "Do you remember them? If not, where could I find them?"

I remember them well. They were all adjectives. To avoid trouble in your driving just remember to be sure, alert, systematic, calm, dependable, considerate, observant, cautious, far-sighted and obedient.

Oiling the Extras
Almost any car can benefit by what is well termed "auxiliary oiling." So bear this in mind when you think you have been very good to the old wagon by giving it the benefit of the usual lubrication of its major parts.

A little oil on brake shoe cams is always helpful to improved braking, while a pat (preferably a mere wipe) of vaseline on the distributor shaft's cam not only heads off a canary noise but also prevents wear on the breaker arm's fibre rubbing block. That thermostatically controlled heat valve on the carburetor is another of the miscellaneous parts that benefit by a bit of oil (in this case penetrating oil). Don't forget the hood hinges.

Thought for Your Safety

To that pundit, Elbert Hubbard, let us go for a useful thought in accident prevention. "Safety," said Hubbard in one of his brilliant moments, "lies in service. Going the same way, we will go hand in hand." One of the finest things to see on the road is one driver sounding his horn to help warn another. I have seen people honking FOR others. That is true service. That is safety.

Did You Know
That tires will change their noise

"output" at different car speeds? If they seem to be too annoying try changing your rate of speed.

That over-cautious drivers — those who engage the clutch too gingerly or run too slowly in low gear — inflict more wear on the universal joints than those who drive more deliberately? Shock along the drive line is a constant strain on the joints.

That many cars have gas tanks dented so as to make the gas gauge inaccurate? A reading of one-quarter full may simply mean that the tank is empty.

By Their Right Names

It is odd how motorists who wouldn't think of calling the distributor the oil pump or the tail pipe the intake manifold will go haywire when referring to body parts. It is frequently confusing when discussing body service work or when ordering body parts. For instance, the part that encloses the headlights of a modern car is known as the headlamp shell, while that part which runs between the hood top panel and a front fender is known as the lower hood quarter. One part that is usually misnamed is the back of the top above the deck panel and the trunk lid. It is known technically as the upper back crown. What's On Your Mind?

Q. On hot days the engine of my car starts to miss and buck after I have gone about ten miles. In cooler weather I do not have any trouble unless the car goes upgrade. The engine doesn't seem to overheat. F. S.

A. My guess is that there isn't enough tappet clearance. When the engine warms up thoroughly one or two valves fail to close tightly, causing the erratic action.

Q. Why do the brakes on my car build up enough pressure in one or two wheel cylinders during the course of a few miles to lock the wheels and necessitate bleeding the wheel cylinders in order to release them? J. T. S.

A. The compensating port of the master cylinder is clogged. This causes pressure to build up in the lines and the brakes to apply themselves. Have the master cylinder rebuilt and the lines flushed out.

Q. When installing piston rings how much gap should be allowed between the ring ends? L. G. L.

A. The rule for this is to increase the gap with increase in ring size. (Please Turn to Page 5)

LATE BLIGHT HITS TOMATOES HARD IN PENNA.

Harrisburg, Aug. 31 (AP)—Late blight—the disease which troubled potato growers for years—is now attacking tomatoes and may destroy upwards of 50 per cent of the canning crop in Pennsylvania this year, a Department of Agriculture report said today.

The blight, promoted by cool, damp weather the past few weeks, has been noted in all sections of the state and has so reduced tomato production that growers are unable to make deliveries.

As a result, one state tomato canning plant and three receiving stations were forced to shut down operations the past two days and the department said many more of about 50 canneries handling tomatoes may be compelled to take similar action before the canning season ends in mid-September.

Some Plants Close
The department said the tomato processing plant at Mt. Union closed Thursday and receiving stations for various other plants shut down at Bloomsburg, Columbia county, Martinsburg, Blair county; and New Paris, Bedford county.

Early season estimates were for a Pennsylvania canning crop of about 228,000 tons—approximately 75,000 more than last year—but this total will be greatly reduced by blight damage, the department added.

Tomatoes damaged by the blight show a gray, brown or black rot just beneath the skin.

Meanwhile, Agriculture Secretary Miles Horst announced lifting today of state regulations requiring inspections of certain shipments of all fruit and vegetables, except sweet corn, from the heavily infested Japanese beetle area in southeastern Pennsylvania.

Restrictions on sweet corn will be removed Saturday, September 14. All bans on shipment of cut flowers from the area will be revoked Tuesday, October 1, he added.

'MISSING' GIRL SAYS SHE WED

Altoona, Pa., Aug. 31 (AP)—A 15-year-old girl reported missing from her home a week ago was held for investigation here today with an 18-year-old youth while police checked their story of a trip to St. Louis where they said they were married. Mrs. Geraldine Koch summoned police late last night after her daughter, Betty Jane Deeters, 15, and Jack Richards, 18, of nearby Duncansville drove to the Koch home to report their marriage in St. Louis. Mrs. Koch had reported the girl missing August 23.

Chief of Police Val Rouzer said that under questioning the youngsters admitted burglarizing a gasoline service station near Pinesville, Ky., and later hitchhiking a ride with Horace V. Condit, of Cincinnati.

After riding a few miles, Rouzer quoted the couple as saying, they forced Condit from the car at the point of a stolen pistol, compelled him to disrobe and then drove away with his car, luggage and wallet containing $28.

The girl and boy were held on charges of being dangerous and suspicious persons, Rouzer said.

Communism On March In U.S.

ment through public opinion—the kind of government we have come to know as democracy. In short, our economy would be supervised and administered by a dictator and his bureaucrats, bent upon regimentation of the rank and file of our citizens. The purpose of the communists is to tear down our American Way of Life by bringing about, if possible, a general condition of destitution. With such a condition prevailing they would then be in a position to move in and take charge because, like a drowning man grasping at a straw, we would have no other alternative than to submit.

Every Man A King
Our American system enables every man to be king of his own domain, master of his house, and shepherd of his soul—a system utterly opposed to that of the communists. Under the "Red" line-up there can be but one master, a dictator whose directives must be carried out to the letter, even to the point of "liquidating" those rash enough to oppose him.

It might be interesting to note here, that of the chief administrative officers of twelve of our greatest railway systems, five began their service as clerks, two as officeboys, and one as fireman, engineer, track laborer, stenographer, telegraph operator, and rod-man. This record tells its own story of the opportunities open to talent and initiative under the American system.

Many other similar instances could be found by an examination of our industrial and commercial organizations.

And, further, the accumulation of capital so repugnant to the communist, is, in truth, civilization's greatest achievement. Capital is what has been gained by work. It is earnings and savings used to increase further production and to cooperate with others in multiplying that production. The mother of Karl Marx was a very wise woman. She wrote: "If Karl had made a lot of capital instead of writing a lot about capital, it would have been much better." If one will read the life stories of Andrew Carnegie and John D. Rockefeller, and note how they had in mind, from the very beginning, service to their fellowmen through the use of the fortunes, however large, which they might acquire, he will see working at its best what the communist so contemptuously calls the Capitalistic System.

Open Defiance
Yes; the concept of a king of his own domain is a tremendous handicap for the communists to overcome in a nation such as the United States, but they have every intention of overcoming it, as witness the declaration of William Z. Foster, of the Communist Party in the United States. Not in a communist meeting, but before a United States Senate Investigating Committee sometime since, Foster, who takes his orders from Moscow, said: "JUST AS SURE AS THE SUN RISES AND SETS, THE UNITED STATES WILL HAVE A COMMUNIST DICTATOR AT ITS HEAD, AND THE RED ARMY WILL BE ON HAND TO BACK UP THE PROLETARIAT WHICH WILL RULE AMERICA."

And Mr. Foster's prediction with respect to the availability of the Red Army is supported by the report of the Congressional Committee on Foreign Affairs, which recently made a tour of Russia. The Soviet Union, it appears, is still building its army. Dictator Stalin states that the building of the army continues for protection only, but it will be recalled that Hitler made the same remark many times when he was building his German army for the purpose of throwing Europe into the turmoil and horror of an all-out war.

Flaunt Freedom
Quoting from the committee's report, "The military outlay of the Russian government continues on a huge scale x x x Russia definitely being operated as a tightly policed state. Freedom, as we understand it, does not exist in the Soviet Union. In complete opposition to the concept of freedom, dedicated, as it is ours, to the theory that the individual shall be protected against interference, even from his own government, and that he shall have the right to criticize and to oppose the administration in power, the present Russian system controls all things with an iron hand through the NKVD. In the Soviet Union no newspaper writer, no radio commentator, and no speaker from a public platform, is permitted to criticize the government. A state police system, known as the NKVD, operates throughout the Union to arrest and deal with anybody who engages in criticism of the rulers of Russia."

"Already we are having examples of these strong-arm, coercive methods by Communists here in the United States working through some of our Unions. What we need is more serious thinking and less banner carrying. Most everyone is tired of seeing groups of misguided individuals carrying placards around telling people someone is unfair to them. Intelligent labor just does not do these things. William Green, veteran president of the American Federation of Labor, the largest Union in the country, has wisely suggested that his men go to work and produce goods so that America may once more return to an era of prosperity. Mr. Green has been through many Union battles and he knows how to win in the American way. He wants no more banner carrying. The C.I.O. doesn't agree with this because it is bossed, apparently, from the Kremlin.

Need Concerted Action
If the American people would only arouse themselves into concerted action, they could, in my judgment, lead the thought of the world against any social, economic, or political system that would deny to the individual citizen "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness." Today's crying need is a revival of the spirit of our forefathers—of Washington and of Franklin, of Hamilton and Jefferson, of Madison and Marshall, of Webster and Lincoln. With such a revival the future peace and prosperity of this now torn and broken world would be as secure as human thought and human power could make it.

Sharp's Park, Calif., (AP)—The volunteer fire department has warned that unauthorized drivers of the town's fire truck will be prosecuted.

Board Secretary O. F. Tonella said it seemed everybody in Sharp's Park wants to drive the fire truck—especially those who don't know how.

Only last week an unauthorized driver took half the fire house door to a fire—on the truck's bumper.

CHARGE AGAINST GREECE HANGING FIRE BEFORE UN

By LARRY HAUCK

Lake Success, N.Y., Aug. 31 (AP)—The Soviet Ukraine's bitter charges against Greece and Great Britain were hanging fire today while the United Nations security council went into its Labor Day week-end holiday without having decided whether the case is worthy of a hearing.

The indicated opposition at yesterday's session posed the question whether the necessary seven votes could be mustered to have the case heard at all.

The next session was set for 1 p.m. (E.S.T.) Tuesday after Great Britain and the Soviet Union clashed sharply last night over the entire question and the council itself refused immediately to seat Dmitri Manulsky, Ukrainian foreign minister who flew here from the Paris peace conference to present his Russian-supported case.

Rebukes U. S.
Also denied a seat was Ambassador Vassil Dendramis, Greek representative, but the pre-voting arguments centered on Manulsky.

Manulsky discussed the Greek situation at length last night at a news conference called at the Soviet consulate in New York city. He said that the plebiscite in Greece set for Sunday was being carried out under the most severe terror and that the security council should concern itself with how it was conducted.

Manulsky was particularly emphatic in comments on the stand taken by Sir Alexander Cobogan, British delegate; Dr. Elco N. van Kleffens, of the Netherlands; and Alexander Parodi, of France. He contended their opposition to hearing him yesterday was contradictory to the United Nations charter and to the council rules.

When it was pointed out to him that the United States had voted with the British and the French against the motion inviting him to table, he smiled and said "My rebuke goes for the United States too."

Monsignor John E. Eckenrode, a cousin of the groom, Prof. and Mrs. Eckenrode upon returning from their wedding trip will reside at Emmitsburg.

YANKS SMASH BOCHE-SOVIET RING OF SPIES

By THOMAS A. REEDY

Frankfurt, Germany, Aug. 31 (AP)—American authorities formally announced Friday the smashing of a German spy ring with Soviet sympathies and asserted that the ring leader had made a full confession of furnishing the Russians information of American troop movements.

The announcement added that at least one of the defendants formerly had worked for the American military government.

The Public Relations division of the United States forces of the European theater confirmed a disclosure from Stuttgart last night of the arrest of the alleged spies. The division said that 14 Germans were in prison awaiting trial on espionage charges.

The defendants were said to be members of an organization known as "Free Germany."

The announcement gave the name of only one defendant—Walter Kazmarek of Stuttgart—and quoted him as saying:

"It is clear we support the Soviet policy to the limit. A few of us in a small circle are more to them than a few divisions. When the east attacks, ministers will disappear in a hurry."

Employed By U. S.

USFET said Kazmarek first was employed by the American military government in December 1945, and that his political activities attracted the surveillance of the counter-intelligence corps. He and his associates were picked up when they sought to make contact with Russian officers in the Russian zone of occupation, the announcement said.

Electrical recordings of conversations among the conspirators disclosed that the group was dedicated to a long-range political program intended to penetrate U. S. military circles with German sympathies to Russia, USFET said.

The announcement said a Maj. Droachin, a Russian secret police officer, founded the "Free Germany" movement at Stuttgart, and said Kazmarek had been paid 5,000 marks ($500 at the military rate of exchange) for reporting on American troop movements in the Frankfurt area.

Russian officers in the Soviet reparations commission were in touch with Kazmarek for some time, the statement said. All Russians concerned have now returned to the U.S.S.R., it added.

Say 350 Will Die In Holiday Accidents

Chicago, Aug. 31 (AP)—Approximately 350 persons will be killed in public accidents during the three-day Labor Day week-end, the National Safety council estimates.

Of the total the council estimated 210 persons would die in motor vehicle accidents and 140 in other mishaps such as drownings and recreational accidents.

The ultimate toll probably will be for the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Melhorn, Charleston, W. Va. The Melhorns are former local residents.

The local Boy Scouts conducted a drive throughout the town during the week to collect wastepaper for patriotic purposes.

Mrs. Lynne W. Grove has been spending several days in New York.

greater than the estimate, the council added, because of deaths of some of those injured during the three-day period. Council statisticians charge a death against the day the injury was received, rather than the day the victim dies.

Chapter 10

Lilly didn't see the baby until he was six weeks old, and then Violet brought him down to the Washington House. Lilly looked at the fat, blond baby in Violet's arms and her arms ached to hold him, for he was a part of Violet.

Violet was hurt that Lilly hadn't come to see either her or the baby and Lilly tried explaining that she couldn't leave Pud. He was so upset about prohibition and what he was going to do, but Violet wasn't accepting that explanation. So finally Lilly said gently, "We don't belong together any more, baby. You have a new way of life and you can't have me hanging around, messing it up. I'm Lilly O'Dell of East Bradford and you're Violet Bradford of Bradford City. We're far apart now and it has to be like we lived in New York and San Francisco. You've chosen your way, just as I did mine, and you've got to stick to it and not try to mix the old and the new. If you do, you won't have anything. And I want a good life for you, baby. More than I want anything else."

Violet looked up from the fair-haired baby in her arms. "All right, Lilly. You're always being right."

Lilly had a problem that summer with Pud. "Look, Lilly," he would say, "the only business I know except prize fighting is gone, and I'm too old to go back to the ring."

Sweet William found the answer. Together he and Pud started a trucking business and when the doors of the Washington House closed in 1929, they were well started and Lilly was making plans to turn the old bar into a parlor. She had always wanted one downstairs.

But she didn't get it. For in a short time, Pud decided to open up the Washington House again. Near bear was legal, and Pud said, "Why shouldn't the little guy be able to get a drink on his way home from the mill? All the places where the big shots go are running wide-open." His eyes shifted. It was hard for him to look at Lilly. "Bill's got a good proposition for carrying the stuff for them and the way I figure it, it's not right for the government to take an honest living away from a man."

So the bar was opened again, only now the door between the bar and the back room which had always stood open, was closed, and most of the customers came to the side door and said, "Joe sent me," and there was a real Joe stationed there who looked them over carefully. The customers were different, too. There were no more sweaty workmen stopping to cool off in summer or warm up in winter after their eight hours in the mill. The customers now came from the Hill and the North End, and a lot of them with their own automobiles, big Maxwells and Tempers and Overlands.

RENEW AGREEMENT

Scranton, Pa., Aug. 31 (AP)—A three-year extension of the existing working agreement with the Boston Red Sox has been approved by the Scranton Miners, 1946 eastern league pennant winners. The current agreement between the clubs, like others in previous seasons, was for one year. The Miners set a new league mark this year by clinching first place two weeks before the scheduled end of the regular season.

The technicolor musical, based on the career of Cole Porter, was produced by Arthur Schwartz, and directed by Michael Curtiz and features many famous stars of the screen, stage and radio, among them Monty Woolley, Ginny Simms, Jane Wyman, Eve Arden, Carlos Ramirez, Danold Woods and Mary Martin.

The film traces the career of composer Cole Porter from the time he decided to give up the study of law for song writing, through his World War I experiences and a too successful career which almost disrupted his marriage.

TRAGEDY AT PLAY

Findlay, O., Aug. 31 (AP)—A game of make-believe in which four children played parts from a western movie they had seen ended tragically when Lawrence P. Switzer, 15, was killed by a bullet his sister Audrey Louise, 9, fired from a pump rifle. Dr. Dwight King, acting county coroner, reported Friday.

JAP BRUTALITY IS RECOUNTED

Tokyo, Aug. 31 (AP)—Victory crazed Japanese troops in north China threw helpless Chinese to starving police dogs, which tore the victims to shreds, the War Crimes Tribunal heard Friday.

"I saw them bitten to death," said an affidavit taken from Cheng Ting-kiang, now a war crimes judge in China.

His testimony was introduced by the prosecution to show that the infamous "rape of Nanking" in 1937 was not the only Japanese victory orgy in China, that it extended into the remotest provinces.

Twenty thousand women and girls attacked, "thousands of innocent civilians" mowed down by machine-gun fire and bodies left to rot in the streets for a month were some of the gruesome details of the Nanking episode described to the tribunal.

Ponds throughout Nanking's International area were filled with bodies which the Japanese would not allow to be buried, a German embassy clerk, W. Maier, said in a statement made one week after the city fell.

Twenty-nine year old Yao Hwa-Liu, a Chinese soldier prisoner of war in Japan, told of seeing eight Japanese soldiers assault a 13-year-old girl in his native Hopei village and watching her die.

Littlestown

once, under terms of the new price control law.

As soon as the agriculture department list is out OPA will start telling consumers, farmers and processors which individual items are affected and which are not.

To avoid upsetting commodity markets, agriculture officials planned to withhold the announcement until the day's market operations are ended.

The only reliable indications to date are that certain canned goods will be decontrolled—OPA already has removed ceilings from soup—and that fats, oils and sugar will be on the scarcity list.
